Three Kinds of Souls, Three Prayers

I am a bow in your hands Lord,
Draw me lest I rot.

Do not overdraw me Lord,
I shall break.

Overdraw me Lord,
and who cares if I break.

Niko Kazantzakis
Rarely do the qualities of one man vastly transcend any immediate and palpable objects of praise so that he may be considered singular in his field. As a friend, as a teacher, as an administrator, Samuel Williams has devoted himself to the ideals of education, living for it, working, and safeguarding it. As a class we came into our full inheritance, though the road was often uncertain. We did not know where we were going, but more than ever before we knew that our destination was to be decisive. It had to be, greatness or failure, and the time for greatness was now. If the universe is as many million years old as we think it is, our crowded little era of four years is but an instant of yesterday. Physical Diagnosis 1968, the hospital in 1969, or the clinic and deanship in 1970 were all part of the identical moment. Dr. Williams has helped to light the road in our way through midnight towards the dawn. He not only deserves our respect, he commands it.

The practice of medicine knows of no undertaking so broad in concept, so grandiose in scale, and so masterful in execution as the education of its practitioners.

we don’t know why interns like our hospital so much!

It might be our rotating internship program which assures each man of gaining valuable experience in all areas of hospital work, from radiology to emergency ward. Or, it could be as one intern put it, that "this is just a great place for our kids to grow up." Of 11 men who interned here in the past two years, nine stayed to open general practices in this area.

Or, it might be our full-time medical educator's conviction that the family doctor is the backbone of medicine, and that we must train good GPs.

Or, maybe it's because our interns are made a real part of the hospital family and share in the physicians' social life.

Or... Well, why don't you come see for yourself?

No need to check.

The cash value of your permanent life insurance policy went up today.

Today and every day, without your doing a thing, your policy is building a fund that can be used for emergencies, for your child's education, for a comfortable retirement.

That's why at Equitable we speak of Living Insurance — with benefits for the living.

In 1968 more than a billion dollars — 72% of total benefit payments — were paid to living Equitable policyowners.

What a way to end the year.
May the road rise
to meet you.
May the wind be always

May the sun shine warm
upon your face.
May the rains fall soft
upon your fields.
And until we meet again,
may God hold you in
