"the serendipitous scholar ought never to, never to be, too consumed in medical content to make his own discovery"

Serendipity

This phenomenon is an attitude, a unique potential to be found within each of us...

The attitude is one of adventure, it is the ability to discover a natural wonder inside the ordinary, the commonplace.

Perceptions of the Editors shall be recorded within this volume...

Perhaps our glimpse of serendipity will be recognized as our tribute to COMS.

... As your minds fill with knowledge, so open your senses to delight in the unexpected...

dedication

What constitutes a medical mind? What are the forces that grind a mass of medical knowledge into raw, palatable facts, making them somehow fit for student consumption and appreciation? What examples prod students into the application of these facts to an unknown entity: that is, to a fearful, or an injured, or an agonizing human being?

Three men, chosen by the class of 1972 for this dedication, have resolved the preceding question with honor. They have, in effect, upheld the progression of freshman student to senior doctor through their teachings and influences.

1. Neill Varner, D.O. Assistant Professor of Anatomy; 1968-69

freshman anatomy: Dr. Varner insisted that we learn the fundamentals and normalities of basic science, and, more important, that we understand the practical side of this knowledge as it applies to a physician. He made academics into a living science; this was our first ray of motivation.
2. Wm. G. Castle, D.O. Professor of Pathology; Department Chairman

sophomore pathology: Dr. Castle brought the effects of disease into our perspective. He emphatically impressed upon us the need to diagnose prior to treatment. A popular paraphrase goes: any fool who can read can treat, only an interested diagnostician can succeed.

3. Samuel Brint, D.O. Professor of OB/Gyn.; Department Chairman

junior and senior clinical clerks: at this point we left the textbooks for clinical experience. Through Dr. Brint’s direction, we came to observe, to learn, and to confidently practice in the real world of medicine. He gave us the needed sense of dignity.

What these three men hold in common is a particular ability to motivate: on this vital factor they stand alone!

The measure of a leader is recorded in his tangible achievements, the product of forthright efforts. Dr. Azneer, upon his mid-'71 acceptance of the Presidency, declared his positive intentions and moved into purposeful action in advance of his official Inauguration.

This man, who is a proven master of several disciplines: theology, Hebrew literature, and education, displays his expertise in the field of medical training. C.O.M.S. has found its motivator in a professional educator, Dr. J. Leonard Azneer.

Serendipitous: a rare find!!
The man -- the doctor -- the dean -- is an enigma. He is at once a willing listener and an effective speaker. His words are gentle and meaningful; his manner is down-to-earth because it is based in a man who is real. No flourish of speeches, no agitated rancor here: Dr. Senty displays a controlled sense of well-being, he sets a good example.

He is sensitive in his administrative role and yet very sensible in its application: a student can get close to him, offer his own views, and feel assured that Dr. Senty will use that point of view to best advantage.

Add to his sense of humor a certain knack for understanding and therein appears a Dean ready to help where he can. An air of steadiness pervades Dr. Senty's official position enabling him to be a decisive and a popular leader. Refreshing!
elizabeth a. burrows, d.o.
director of medical education

The legacy of C.O.M.S. can be attributed to just a handful of its physician-professors. This woman, who has touched the make-up of every C.O.M.S. graduate, is unique in her involvement with the school and its students. Hers is a total commitment. That quality is profound.

It would be easy to take Dr. Burrows for granted if she remained as merely a guiding force in the curriculum. To our continuous surprise and appreciation, she makes the school work for the students. Her concern and her sense of protective direction can be endowed with generosity or tempered with anger. This feature, recognized by all who know her, marks her words and her actions as both sincere and constructive. She is powerful and proud, the rightful standard-bearer of professional convictions.

WE BEGAN...

The Students' Wives Club enables the wives to become close friends as they join together in common interests. A welcome letter and Round-Robin parties help to introduce the new wives to new friends.
With years of medical school to face, the wives can enjoy such club activities such as: The Christmas Party for underprivileged children, making tray favors for the hospitals, visiting with children at the Juvenile home, filling baskets for the needy, entertaining at the DETOX Center, and enjoying the monthly meetings.

The highlight of the year is the Spring Dance where the husbands and wives can enjoy a night out with friends. Other activities are planned for couples each semester.

Learning about our husbands' profession is interestingly handled through speakers, tours and projects for the school.

One of the most basic additions to COMS’ training program is the opening of clinics in rural towns. The clinics in Redfield and Dallas-Melcher are two tangible results of the desire of COMS to serve its students, community and state.

These clinics will improve clinical training while encouraging future doctors to practice family medicine. In addition, these clinics will help to alleviate the present shortage of physicians, serve local communities, and encourage more future physicians to stay in Iowa.
Announcement of the acquisition of a new physical plant for our school has been one of the highlights of this academic year.

The College of Osteopathic Medicine will take possession in July of 1972. The fifteen acre site is comprised of two buildings containing 95,000 square feet of floor space, with modern laboratory facilities.

This site is scheduled for full operation in September of 1972 and will contain facilities for administration, animal and cadaver labs, library and basic sciences.

In addition, a new 3 year curriculum will be instituted. Plans are also being developed to increase the size of the Freshman class from 113 to 163 by utilizing class room space in day and evening shifts.

This 2½ million dollar acquisition is part of a 12 million dollar development program planned over the next 10 years.

MERCY HOSPITAL OF DES MOINES CONGRATULATES the class of 1972

CONGRATULATIONS GRADUATES

You know, 1972 is a big year for us, too! We're well on our way to completion of Phase One of our fifteen million-dollar expansion program, but we're not waiting on that to launch into some exciting new programs and procedures. Our new Cardiovascular Unit, new capabilities in Radiology and growing efforts in all phases of Mercy's life point to a great opportunity for our continuing interest in medical education. Much of the impetus has originated with the top-notch graduates of the Des Moines College of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery who have joined our house staff the last two years. With all this going for us, we have great expectations for continuing the Mercy tradition of highest quality patient care.

Whether you're still looking for an internship, just starting practice or want to move into an area with virtually unlimited practice possibilities, Cleveland has something for you.

- Three excellent osteopathic hospitals
- A location in one of the nation's leading centers of medical practice and education
- An outstanding opportunity for professional and personal growth
- A local osteopathic academy which is concerned with your well-being
- An Academy-sponsored program to help new physicians start their practice
- Choice suburban practice locations and hospitals within easy driving distance of downtown Cleveland

For information on internship-residency programs or hospital staff positions write directly to the Administrator:

Parkview is a growing hospital in a growing community in the heart of the industrial and agricultural Midwest. A $3 million expansion and modernization program, now completed, has increased bed capacity from 91 to 130 and has provided modern, enlarged quarters for all areas of service. Parkview is AOA accredited with approved intern and resident training.

THEN WE WERE INSPIRED...

SEE, YOU'RE OUR CENTERFOLD

ELLIOIT, NEXT TIME TAKE THE LENS COVER OFF THE CAMERA

COME ON ARTHERHOLT, WAKE UP

... NOW WE ARE SAD AND TIRED.
I came to this place, not knowing. You gave me your knowledge, but then, I questioned this place, not caring. (In spite of myself, I learned, some say a mystical reverence or perhaps it was only your way to keep my mind discontent till I wanted to find what I came for.)

Now I leave this place, not pausing, to look back on where I’ve been, this new consciousness in me beckons, I’ve found the threshold, I’ve found my way to lose this life for a greater life whose mystery soars before me.
