

The MHA/MPH student cost of attendance budget is based on an academic year that consists of three terms. Your financial aid is determined by your course load each term and your enrollment status. You must maintain at least a half-time status for financial aid eligibility and each term you must apply for funds.

Each student is allowed to receive funding (from all resources i.e.: loans, scholarships, etc.) up to the budget. Federal guidelines were utilized and the amount represents the maximum funding you can receive. See term budget below.

To be eligible for financial aid, you must register for at least 5 credit hours per term. Financial aid awards cannot be estimated until you have registered for courses.

Des Moines University is a private institution and has the same tuition for in-state and out-of-state students.

* Budget subject to change

**Tuition is based on 9 cr. hrs. for full time and 5 cr. hrs. for half time. If a student takes additional credits the tuition charge will be higher. Contact the financial aid office. If a student is only enrolled in one module for fall or spring terms, the budget is only for 2 months. Refer to the summer budget amount.

The total cost of attendance budget is the maximum amount of resources (i.e.-scholarships, loans, grants, etc.) that a student may receive. If a student receives a late award (loan, scholarship, grant, etc.) the financial aid package is recalculated. The late award will be sent back to the lender to reduce the amount of loans.

Keep in mind that according to Federal regulations, the budget is constructed for a single student only.
