Electronic Emergency Notification System

In an effort to quickly and effectively disseminate information during campus emergencies, Des Moines University has implemented the e2Campus Notification System. The alert system is designed to send only information regarding emergency conditions, including weather cancellations and delays. No advertising or non-emergency messages are sent. The alerts are delivered through mobile phone as text messages, RSS feed, PDA, e-mail and text pager. Text messages may involve a charge based on the terms of your agreement with your service provider.

Students wishing to receive these messages must be registered. To register go to the student portal and click on the e2Campus logo.
